

Lady Adventurers! Thank you! Guy Adventurers... Listen up!

Guess-what? I sure did hit a hot-spot w/the ladies... Show them "2 potential homes" and then "ask for comments". WooHoo!

Overwhelmingly, voters ("all-votes" to "no-votes") were in favor of the below log home...

I realized I had enough pics for a tour, so here-we-go...

The square-port to the left of Natalie (realtor) is a view-port.
Going in the front door (now to the left of Natalie)...

...and from Natalie (above) looking across the room (below)...

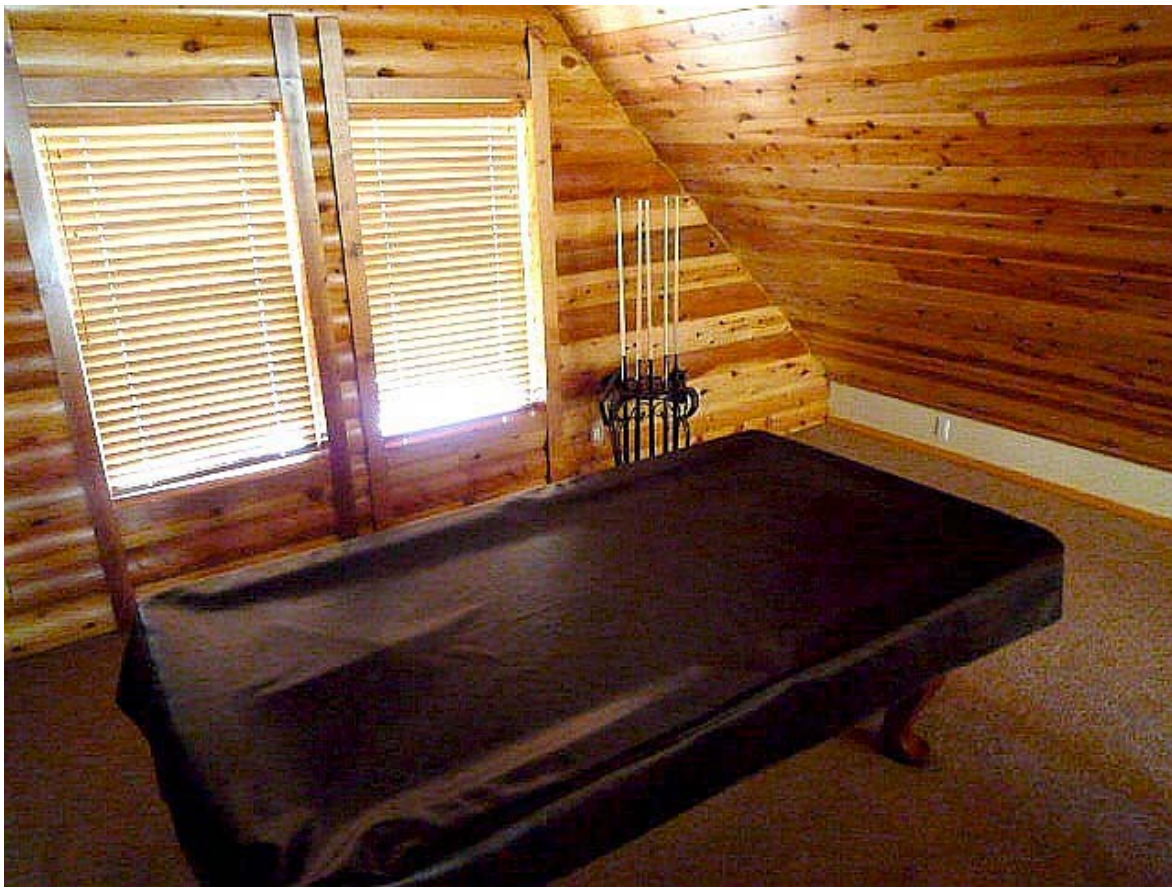

But oh-wow... Upon entering the front door and looking left...

Recall, this home is rented furnished, as-is!!

Impressive eh? Up-the-stairs is a loft and pool table (the openness leaving me thinking "How do you heat this place?")...

Thinking: I'd put a glass-plate over the table, make this my "model airplane building room". Below: Fireplace to my right...

The dining area...

...the kitchen...

...and (below) the laundry room...

The bedrooms (are these bed-coverings practical? Does anybody actually sleep under this stuff?)...

...another bedroom...

Feedback from Rachel asked... What's the backyard view?
A kids sno-park. Kids come up the tunnel, "sled/tube down"...

Toward the lake is the below view...

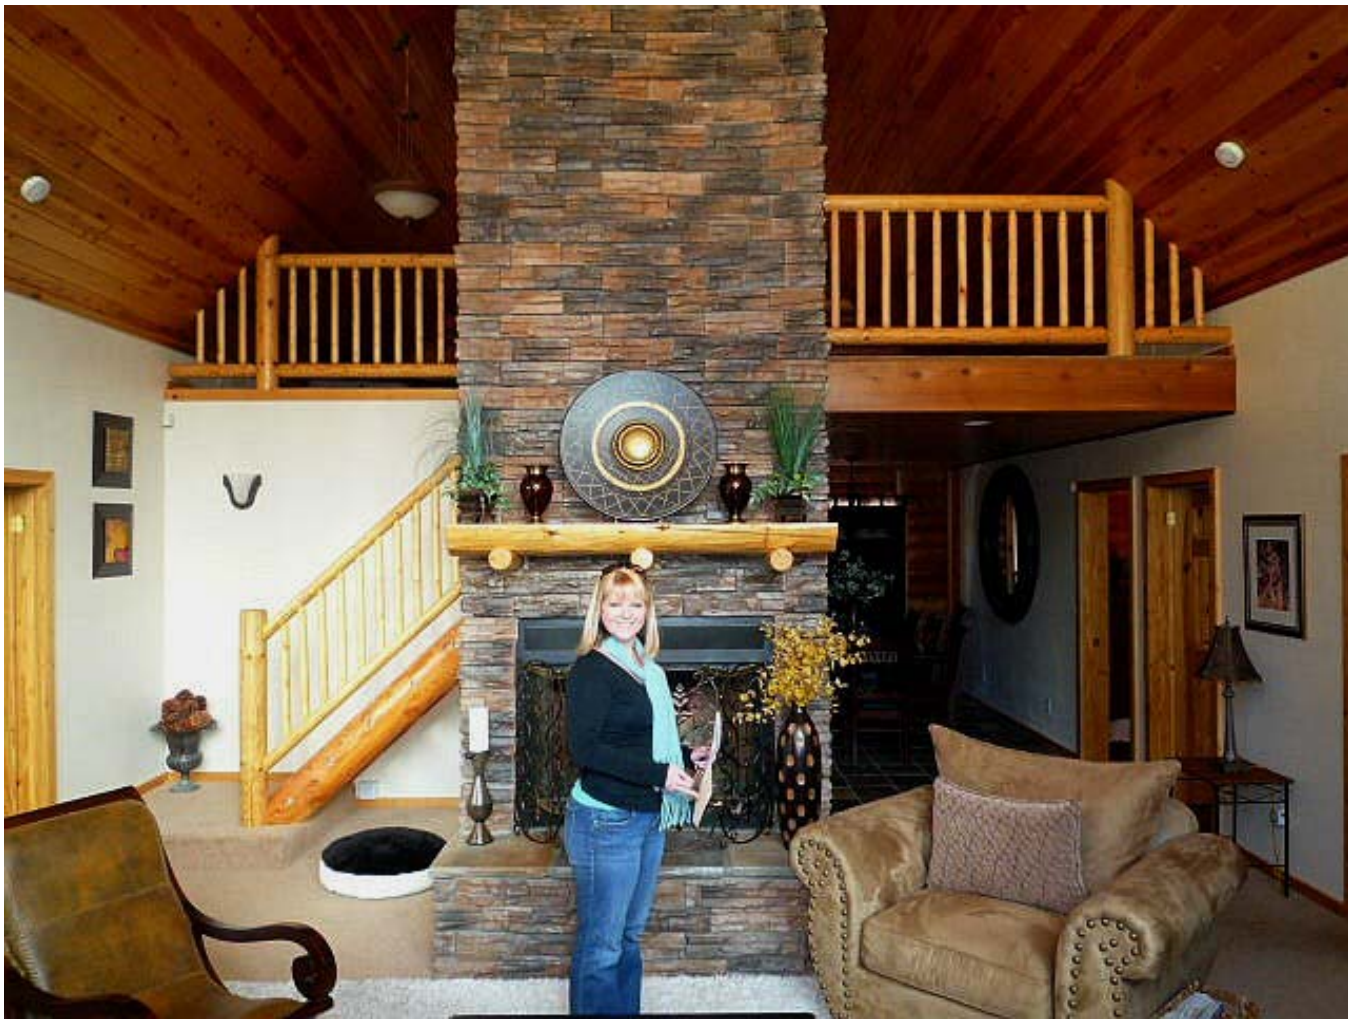

...and all-quiet when I was there (Thurs 10am) but a mile away is the airport. This could be a "plus" as I stated to Thad if (very big "if") I could get a reasonably-priced hangar, I'd buy an airplane.

No pics of the garage, but it's large at 22'x22' (484 sq/ft; my awesome garage here in Irvine is 480sf + 60sf of shelf-space). A small point as the home has a 3rd bedroom (with bunk-beds!) which can easily become storage.

From the front-pic, it appears there is under-floor storage, but I did not look for it.

In closing, below is one more pic of the massive fireplace...

Thanks for reading along! Paul P. pencipa@yahoo

Ooooooh... How do you heat this place? Hmmm??? Then again, there are benefits to the chilly region...

